Accreditation

Physicians: Educational Symposia is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Educational Symposia designates this live activity for a maximum of 12.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)TM. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Educational Objectives

Attendees should, at the completion of this course, be able to:

- Discuss iatrogenic forms of gastrointestinal tract injury.
- Be aware of pitfalls in interpreting endoscopic resection samples, especially from the esophagus.
- Recognize, assess and diagnose gastric polyps, dysplasia and their clinical correlations.
- Address various types of neoplastic and non-neoplastic small intestinal pathology.
- Recognize various unusual forms of gastric carcinoma.
- Be aware of unusual types of colitis as well as classic forms.
- Master the new classifications and staging of appendiceal neoplasms.
- Recognize various types of syndromic and sporadic polyps of the colorectum.
- Recognize several pitfalls in immunolabeling of various types of gastrointestinal tract lesions.
- Develop an approach to gastrointestinal mesenchymal lesions.
- Explain the importance of location within the layers of the gastrointestinal tissues to better classify various tumor types.

No special educational preparation is required for this CME activity.
