About The Meeting

This course provides a practical, clinically focused review of diagnostic ultrasound and body imaging. Topics include commonly performed exams such as carotid, abdominal, OB/GYN ultrasound and genitourinary and gastrointestinal fluoroscopic, CT, and ultrasound imaging. Attendees will have ample opportunity to test their knowledge during the comprehensive case review sessions. The casual atmosphere allows sufficient time for personal interaction throughout the program.

Target Audience

This course is designed to educate those who order, perform, and interpret clinical ultrasound and body imaging studies. It should be particularly valuable for diagnostic imaging physicians and referring physicians who utilize body imaging studies to evaluate the clinical status of their patients.

Scientific Sponsor
